Report

Workshop Report: Business Concept Workshop with Department of Commerce

Date: 10th October 2019

Venue: Montfort Hall

Time: 10:30 AM

Introduction: On 10th October 2019, a special workshop on business concepts was organized by the Department of Commerce at Montfort Hall. The workshop aimed to provide valuable insights and knowledge to college students on various aspects of business and entrepreneurship. The event was attended by distinguished guests, faculty members, and students from the college.

Program Schedule: The workshop began with a prayer led by college students, creating a serene and focused environment. This was followed by a soulful light vocal performance by Professor Vishwanath Koravi, which further set the tone for the event.

Dr. M. P. Hiremath, the head of the Department of Commerce, welcomed and introduced the participants to the workshop. His warm and engaging introduction created an atmosphere of enthusiasm and anticipation.

The flower distribution ceremony was presided over by the President, Dr. B. G. Biradar, who symbolically honoured the esteemed guests and dignitaries present at the inaugural ceremony. The chief guest for the event was Rev. Br. Niju Thomas, and Dr. B. R. Betgar, who were welcomed with great respect and admiration.

Guest Lecture: The highlight of the workshop was a guest lecture delivered by Professor Vishwanath Koravi, the Director of Chetana Business School in Hubballi. Professor Koravi shared his extensive knowledge and experience in the field of business and entrepreneurship. His lecture covered various aspects, including market analysis, business planning, and effective strategies for success.

Felicitation and Encouraging Words: Professor Vishwanath Koravi was felicitated for his valuable contribution to the workshop. This gesture of appreciation and recognition served as an inspiration for both the speaker and the audience.

Rev. Br. Niju Thomas and Dr. B. G. Biradar delivered encouraging words, emphasizing the importance of entrepreneurial skills and the role of education in fostering innovation and growth. Their motivational speeches resonated with the attendees and encouraged them to explore their potential in the field of business.

Presidential Speech: Rev. Br. Niju Thomas, the chief guest, delivered a powerful and insightful presidential speech. He highlighted the significance of entrepreneurship in today's world and urged the students to embrace innovation and take risks. His speech provided a visionary perspective and ignited a sense of purpose among the audience.

Vote of Thanks: Kumari Paravati Peetambarshetty, representing the organizing committee, delivered a vote of thanks. She expressed gratitude towards all the participants, guests, and organizers who contributed to the success of the workshop. Her words acknowledged the efforts put forth by everyone involved and extended appreciation for their valuable contributions.

Master of Ceremony (M.O.C) and Conclusion: Kumari Vijaylaxmi Manjannavar efficiently hosted the workshop as the Master of Ceremony (M.O.C), ensuring smooth transitions and engaging the audience throughout the event. Her skillful coordination added to the overall effectiveness and flow of the workshop.

The workshop on business concepts organized by the Department of Commerce provided an excellent platform for students to gain valuable insights and knowledge in the field of business and entrepreneurship. The presence of esteemed guests and experienced professionals enriched the event and inspired the participants to explore their potential as future entrepreneurs.

The workshop concluded successfully, leaving the attendees motivated and equipped with new ideas and strategies to pursue their entrepreneurial aspirations. The Department of Commerce should be commended for organizing such an informative and inspiring event, which will undoubtedly contribute to the personal and professional growth of the participants.
